

Minerals Technologies Inc. Named One of 100 Best Corporate Citizens for Second Straight Year

April 14, 2004

NEW YORK, Apr 14, 2004 (BUSINESS WIRE) -- For the second consecutive year, Business Ethics magazine has named Minerals Technologies Inc. (NYSE:MTX) to its list of 100 Best Corporate Citizens.

Minerals Technologies Inc. was number 81 on the list that included such companies as Procter & Gamble, Intel, IBM, and Hewlett Packard.

"We place a priority on ethical conduct at MTI, and we are very proud that we have been recognized by Business Ethics magazine for the second year in a row," said Paul R. Saueracker, Chairman, President and Chief Executive Officer. "It is also gratifying to find ourselves in the company of some of the country's top corporations."

The criteria used to determine the corporate citizenship ranking is based upon quantitative measures of corporate service to seven stakeholder groups: stockholders, employees, customers, the community, the environment, overseas stakeholders and women and minorities. The list of potential corporations is drawn from the S&P 500 and Russell 1000 indices.

Sandra Waddock and Samuel Graves of the Carroll School of Management at Boston College did statistical analysis for the list. KLD Research and Analytics of Boston, a research firm serving socially responsible investors, provided social ratings.

MTI is a global resource- and technology-based growth company that develops, produces and markets the highest quality performance-enhancing minerals and related products, systems and services for the paper, steel, polymer and other manufacturing industries. The company reported sales of $813.7 million in 2003.
